

Guess Who's Coming to Dinner?

I don't live alone.
Please stop saying that.
I have my friends.
They visit me all day every day.

They tell me things I need to know.
Things about THEM.

They tell me what to do
to stay safe.
They tell me how to think the right way.
They tell me many things.

They say the people out there want to kill me,
that there are things out there that are a menace.
They told me this.
It can't be a lie.

Don't think I am all alone.
I have my friends, you know.
Don't try to take them away from me.
If you try, I will show you one of my little friends.

Leave me alone!
Don't come near me!
I'm warning you!
What's that noise I hear?

How dare you knock on my door!

You want a piece of me?

How about a piece of lead instead?
